

artcache

aesthetics of research | columbia college library

Part geocache, part hidden exhibit, part library scavenger hunt, the ARTCACHE, gives you an opportunity not only to participate in this interactive exhibit, but also to have some fun in locating it, to learn more about the library, and to brush up on your research and problem solving skills. From the 1st Floor Circulation Desk, you can set off on your search, which will take you through highlights of Chicago art, culture, and history (as well as all five floors of the Columbia College Library) to lead you to the hidden cache. For both artists and non-artists, the cache offers an opportunity to sign the logbook, to peruse the items within the cache, take a souvenir piece, as well as contribute, if desired, your own small piece to the collection.

How to Participate:

Visit the 1st Floor Circulation Desk for your starting clue.

Bring a pencil for the logbook and a piece of your own work (visual art, writing, crafts, etc.) to add to the box.

All clues lead to the Library's online catalog, which can be accessed at lib.colum.edu on any of our computer terminals or mobile devices.

Columbia College Library
624 S Michigan
October 1st – November 15th

